

EXHIBIT 13

1. A brief description of the data that your department tracks for those currently incarcerated for misdemeanor charges, including whether:

- a) the prior criminal history of people currently incarcerated for misdemeanors is known to your department.
- b) the state citizenship or state of residence of people currently incarcerated for misdemeanors is known to your department.
- c) the national citizenship of people currently incarcerated for misdemeanors is known to your department. ; and
- d) the racial composition of people currently incarcerated for misdemeanors is known to your department.

RESPONSE: FOIA does not require a public body to respond in question and answer format. See Del. Op. Att’y Gen. 08-IB05, 2008 WL 1727613, at *1 (citing Del. Op Att’y Gen. 00-IB08, 2000 WL 1092967, at p. 2). Nonetheless, DDOC responds as follows:

- a) DDOC does not track the prior criminal history of people currently incarcerated.
- b) DDOC has access to data reflecting the last reported address of people currently incarcerated and is able to modify that field based on self-reported information from inmates. DDOC does not verify the accuracy and does not warrant the accuracy of residential data, nor does DDOC make any determination regarding a person's state of citizenship.
- c) DDOC has access to data reflecting the last reported address of people currently incarcerated and is able to modify that field based on self-reported information from inmates. DDOC does not verify the accuracy and does not warrant the accuracy of residential data, nor does DDOC make any determination regarding a person's country of citizenship.
- d) DDOC does not create, control, or modify data concerning the racial composition of people currently incarcerated. DDOC does not verify the accuracy and does not warrant the accuracy of racial composition data. DDOC tracks information concerning the racial composition of people currently incarcerated.
